SEC Rule 607 Disclosure

Rule 607 of Regulation NMS requires broker-dealers to disclose, upon opening a new customer account and on an annual basis thereafter: (i) their policies regarding payment for order flow, including a statement as to whether any payment for order flow is received for routing customer orders and a detailed description of the nature of the compensation received; and (ii) their policies for determining, in the absence of specific customer instructions, where to route customer orders that are the subject of payment for order flow, including a description of the extent to which orders can be executed at prices superior to the National Best Bid / Offer (“NBBO”).

Certain venues offer cash credits or rebates for orders that provide liquidity to their books and charge explicit fees for orders that extract liquidity from their books. Other venues are inverted, meaning they offer those benefits for orders that remove liquidity from their books and charge fees for orders that provide liquidity to their books. Citigroup Global Markets Inc. (“CGMI”) routes orders to exchanges that provide these programs and may be eligible for these benefits under the relevant exchange rules. For any execution, customers of CGMI may request that CGMI identify the venue on which their transactions have been executed, and advise whether CGMI netted a rebate from such venue during the relevant time period. When making decisions regarding the handling and routing of customer orders, CGMI considers (among other things) the size and type of the order; the trading characteristics of the security involved (including liquidity); the availability of accurate information affecting choices as to the most favorable market center for execution and the availability of technological aids to process such information; and the cost and difficulty associated with achieving an execution in a particular market center.
